SHORTRIDGE ANNUAL

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

IN THE LAND OF MILK AND HONEY, IN THE CENTRAL WEST, STANDS A SCHOOL OF MANY VIRTUES, RANKED AMONG THE BEST.
GLORICUS SHORTRIDGE IS HER TITLE.

FOREWORD

Four years at Shortridge have taught us much. From them we have gleaned a store of knowledge as well as countless experiences and memories.

If in the years to come this book serves to recall even a few of our many happy hours at Shortridge, it shall not have been in vain.

Robert Bracken

Dedication:

A school is known by the achievements of its students. To the development of such achievements Russel Scott Julius, to whom the Class of 1939 dedicates this Annual, has contributed materially. Through his indefatigable efforts Shortridge athletic teams now compete in a new and greater stadium which last year replaced the less adequate equipment of earlier days.

As a member of the faculty since 1920, as coach of Shortridge's first modern football team, as an instructor of physical education, as director of all athletic activities for eighteen years, and through his lively interest in all Shortridge problems, Mr Julius has served Shortridge well and has won the respect and esteem of all who know him.

TO THE CLASS OF 1939:

I GREATLY APPRECIATE THE HONOR THE CLASS OF 1939 HAS BESTOWED BY DEDICATING THIS ANNUAL TO ME. I HOPE I SHALL BE ABLE TO CONTINUE TO SERVE IN SUCH A WORTHY SCHOOL AS SHORTRIDGE.

IT HAS GIVEN ME MUCH PERSONAL PLEASURE TO HELP IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT AND ITS FACILITIES AND TO HAVE BEEN ABLE TO ASSIST IN PROMOTING ALL SHORTRIDGE ACTIVITIES. WITHOUT THE FINE CO-OPERATION OF OUR FACULTY, STUDENTS, AND PARENTS, OUR ADVANCEMENT WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN POSSIBLE.

I WISH EACH AND EVERY MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF 1939 A MOST SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

— RUSSEL SCOTT JULIUS

CLASS POEM

by Doris Tuttle

FROM OUR PIONEER FOREFATHERS WHOSE CONESTOGAS
RINGED THE DRY WATER HOLES,
FROM THE SUN-BONNETED WOMEN WHO GATHERED TOGETHER
THE BED CLOTHES AND KETTLES,
FROM THE HEAT-SCORCHED MEN WHO YOKED
THE PATIENT, PLODDING OXEN,
WE HAVE INHERITED OUR COURAGE AND FORTITUDE.
WE DO NOT TRAVEL THE WESTERN PLAINS
OF CACTI AND SAGE, UNDER HEAT OF MALEVOLENT SKIES,
BUT WE SEE A VAST DESERT OF STRIFE,
BLOWN BY THE STORMS OF A WAR-SICK WORLD.
AS THEY BUILDED AN EMPIRE OF CITIED STRENGTH, OF WHEAT FIELDS, AND RAILWAYS, AND TOWERS,
SO MUST WE CREATE A NEW EMPIRE'S FRONTIERS
IN THE VASTER REALM OF HUMANITY.

SEARCHERS LIKE US, THEY TRAVERSED
THE BROAD, YELLOW TRACT,
WRENCHING FROM IT THE SECRETS OF GOLD AND SUNLIGHT.

THEY SAW THE INFINITE SIERRAS TOUCHED BY THE FIRST DAWN.
AS THEIR SLOW-MOVING TRAINS MEASURED THE UNMEASURED PLAINS
OUR LEADERS STRAIN THEIR EYES AHEAD AND VIEW
IN THE FAR-FLAMING MAJESTY OF THE DAWNING MOUNTAINS
THE DESTINY OF A NATION BORN IN OUR STRIVING.
OURS NOW THE INWARD SIERRAS, THE INWARD DESERTS, STRIVEN FOR IN OUR STRUGGLE OF THOUGHT AND DEED.

CLASS OF 1939 JUNIOR MINUTES

The class of 1939 first became an organized group with the election of the Junior officers on November 23, 1937. The candidates elected were Bradford Hoelscher, president; Nancy Ann Trimble, vice-president; Marian Wilcox, secretary; Andrew Diddel, treasurer; and Charles Smith, Vaudeville chairman. The representatives elected to the Student Council were Dorothy Beem, Barbara Fuller, William Shirley and Jack Brown. Sylvia Pittman and Robert Bracken were chosen as alternates.

The pin and ring committee, composed of the Junior officers, Mary Janet Mummert, John Allerdice, Steve Minton, Joan Dougan and Martha Lou Sunderland, chose the class insignia after several weeks of controversy. The class colors, poudre blue and dubonnet, were also selected at this time. The Junior Vaudeville, supervised by Charles Smith and under the sponsorship of Mrs. Nell Merrick Thomas and Enoch D. Burton, was presented on March 11 and 12, 1938, to capacity houses.

"Dusk Dream Revue," with Arvine Roe as chairman, was voted the best act of the vaudeville. Other act chairmen were Martha Mellet and Joella Nearpass; Robert Crozier and Louis Shultz; Joan Buschman, Eloise Wilson, Katy Lou Matlock and Audrey Watson. Intermission acts under the supervision of Kim Greenough were harpist, harmonica swing band, string trio, and marimba duet.

Individual awards for the best performances were presented to Gilmore Johnson, dancer, and Mary Catherine Stair, harpist and singer. The class gift, a silver curtain for the stage, was first used in the production.

The class elected Senior representatives to the Student Council on Friday, June 3. The following were elected: Sol Blickman, Bob Bracken, Phyllis Hadden, Ralph Hesler, and Marian Wilcox. Alternates chosen were Jack Brown and Sue Ann Knippenburg.

ACTIVITIES OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Election of officers, November 2, marked the beginning of the activities of the class of nineteen hundred thirty-nine. The successful candidates were David Smith, president; Mary Janet Mummert, vice-president; Sue Ann Knippenberg, secretary; Dick Carson, treasurer; and Bob Bracken, Annual editor. Two representatives were later elected from each Senior home room and these representatives met with the officers and Mr. Joel Hadley, class sponsor, at intervals during the year to discuss class activities. The representatives elected were Dede Beem, John Beeler, Jack Busch, Martha Jo Cantwell, Bob Elliott, Herb DeHaven, Barbara Fuller, Tom Gates, Jim Hall, Brad Hoelscher, Nelson Johnson, Mildred Kapherr, Fred Jones, Katy Lou Matlock, Betty Lewis, Buzz Lingeman, Joan Mick, John Mingle, John Osborne, Bob Pitcher, Bob Scott, Wilma Rothenburger, Robert Shade, Chuck Smith, Edelle Smith, Marian Wilcox, and Dorothy Weber.

The class held its Christmas party on December 20, the day before school was dismissed for vacation. Mr. Watson, acting as Santa Claus, presented gifts to various seniors. The floor show consisted of a chorus of Senior boys and girls in an original song and dance number, with Dick Carson and Bill Shirley lending their talent. Dance music, provided by Bud Stone and his orchestra, completed the entertainment.

At the first meeting of the class on December 9, 1938, Mary Janet Mummert, chairman of the colors committee, announced that the class colors were dubonnet and poudre blue.

A faculty committee selected the Bretzman Studio to make the class pictures.

On March 21, class day officers were elected. They were John Beeler, giftorian; Katy Lou Matlock, historian; John Mingle, will-maker; Joan Dougan, prophet.

Payton, was excellently presented on May 12, in Caleb Mills Hall. The leading role was taken by Katy Lou Matlock. She was aided by a capable supporting cast who were Joan Mick, Jack Diamond, Carolyn Bock, John Mingle, Joan Dougan, Kathleen Shockley, Wilma Rothenburger, Dorothy Link, Betty Corrigan, Charlotte Tindall, Fred Forry, Neel Liverett, Roy Reed, Sylvia Madiel, Robert Sielken, Jean Buschmann, Selma Wolverton, Helen Billeter, Bob Bethuram, Robert Krueger, Mary Jane Hess, Robert Stump, Allen Broadstreet, Jim Hall, Sam Mantel, Herbert DeHaven and Charles Smith. Margery Rasmussen and Sue Ann Knippenberg were co-chairman of the ushers. "First Lady" was directed by Miss Eleanor Dee Theek. Susanne Custer was the student director.

A meeting of the Senior girls disclosed that the traditional white dresses would be worn and that they would carry French bouquets. The boys decided to wear any light clothes suitable for the occasion. Commencement week was filled with the usual farewell activities. On Sunday, June 4, impressive vesper services were held in Caleb Mills Hall. On June 5, a Senior meeting was held in the auditorium. Class Day was held on Tuesday, June 6. Seniors and their guests enjoyed stunts and the class day officers presented gifts, gave the prophecy, the will, and the class history.

In a beautiful ceremony which will linger in the memory of all present, the class of nineteen hundred thirty-nine was graduated on Wednesday night, June 7, at Cadle Tabernacle. — Sue Ann Knippenberg.

THE SENIOR PLAY

"First Lady," written by Kathrine Dayton and George S. Kaufman, and directed by Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, was presented on May 12 in Caleb Mills Hall. Lucy Chase Wayne, played by Katy Lou Matlock, and Irene Hibbard, played by Mary Jane Hess, are rivals throughout the story for the position of "first lady" of the land. Lucy works toward her own end by backing her husband, Stephen Wayne, played by John Mingle, for the presidency. Just as determinedly, Irene supports Senator Keane, played by Bob Bethuram. She plans to divorce her husband and marry Keane after his nomination. In their strained meetings, these two Washington belles are supported by a large cast and production staff. The staff was as follows: Student director, Suzanne Custer; stage manager, Silvia Madiel; stage crew manager, Homer Warman; property crew manager, Virginia Niven; call girl, Paulyne Schwindler; electrician, Bob Merrill; sound effects, Jacqueline Walker; costume crew managers, Betty Jean Miller and John Beeler; make-up crew manager, Mary Louise Savidge.

Sue Ann Knippenberg and Marjorie Rasmussen were chairmen of the ushers. Coaching for the French conversation in the play was done by Janice Murray, Jacqueline Walker, and Barbara Frederickson.

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Shortridge chapter of the National Honor Society, under the sponsorship of Miss Minnie Lloyd, has completed an active and successful year. In the fall semester of 1938 James Hall was elected president and Susanne Clark, secretary-treasurer. The group chairmen elected by the society were Marian Wilcox, chairman of group A; Wilma Rothenburger, chairman of group B; and Jack Brown, chairman of group C. The faculty advisors were Mrs. Hope Nevitt, Miss Nora Thomas, and Mrs. Gertrude Weathers.

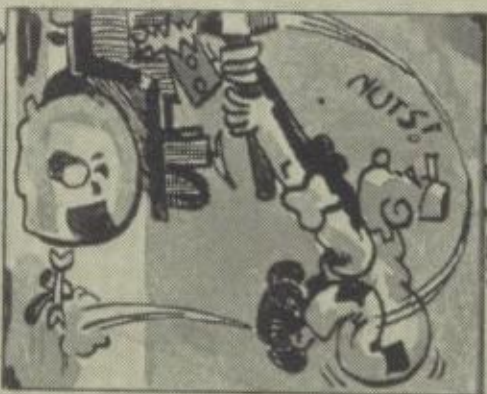

The following are members of the chapter: Doris Becker, Katherine Bertsch, Amy Bird, Jessie Bitner, Sol Blickman, Carolyn Bock, Betty Lou Bowen, Robert Bracken, Jack Brown, Ruth Cabalzer, Bruce Cameron, Martha Jo Cantwell, Susanne Clark, Mable Clift, Diane Cohn, Joan Dougan, Jeanette Elkin, Virginia Ellerbush, Patricia Federmann, Barbara Fredrickson, Barbara Fuller, Betty Genier, Richard Gilliom, Gleeta Graves, Emily Glossbrenner, Morris Green, Phyllis Hadden, James Hall, Claribel Hewson, Mary Jane Hill, Lloyd Hiott, Betty Hosmer, Richard Hudelson, Patricia Jackson, Margaret Jameson, Gaar Johnson, Fred Jones, Sue Ann Knippenberg, Adeline Lewis, William E. Lewis, Arnold Marks, Elizabeth Marshall, Katy Lou Matlock, Marjorie McAbee, Robert Merrill, Norma Miller, John Mingle, Stephen Minton, Janice Murray, Katherine Parrish, Martha Poole, Mary Jean Reis, Carl Riggs, Wilma Rothenburger, Jack Siegesmund, William Shirley, Kathleen Shockley, Robert Sielken, Barbara Smith, David Smith, Rosanne Smith, Richard Stark, Mary Jane Steiner, Margaret Studebaker, Robert Stump, Patricia Sylvester, James Thurston, Nancy Ann Trimble, Doris Tuttle, Allan D. Vestal, Jacqueline Walker, Bernice West, Mary Westfall, and Marian Wilcox.

The activities of the Honor Society included tutoring, correspondence with graduate members of the society, the sponsoring of a basketball game between the senior members of the varsity and a faculty team, and a spring football game. The proceeds from the athletic events helped buy a gift for the school. Group A entertained the entire group of members at a supper featuring a night club atmosphere. Group B was in charge of the annual picnic, and Group C sponsored a party held at the American Life Insurance Company. On April 28, the formal initiation was held in the Charity Dye Library. The parents of the members were invited.

"THE CAMPUS"

In answer to a need for R. O. T. C. and band drill ground, the Shortridge campus was secured. The Shortridge P. T. A. presented the need for a safe place for outdoor activities to the School Board. At this meeting, arranged for by Mrs. George L. Clark, the plan was presented by L. D. Claycombe, city lawyer. Some one thousand parents signed a petition for the purchase.

According to the conditions of the lease, yearly payments of approximately $3,500 a year will be made for ninety-nine years. The city also has option to buy the land for $100,000 after twenty-five years. However, the lease contains no provision for applying the yearly rentals to the purchase price.

Although the work on the ground is not completed, students have enjoyed the freedom of its use during lunch periods, for drill, and nature study. Underclassmen are looking forward to an improved and useful campus. Shortridge thanks all those who had a part in its purchase.

Dinner From The Mantle

or Quick, Henry, The Pillow ! *

By Patty Goode

"To be or not to be (a horse enthusiast), — that is the question." Whether 'tis nobler to suffer the consequences which arise from riding horses, or to shy away from them and permit yourself to be looked down upon as a non-equestrian, i. e. a social outcast. Ay, there's the rub!

Who, in this day wants to become a social outcast? What's that you say? You would rather be that than a sore horseman? Come now, friend, it can't be as bad as all that. Well, there is something in what you say; horseback riding, so I've heard, does cause one to acquire large hips, and furthermore, it's mighty discouraging to wake up the morning of the big school dance and find one's self so stiff and sore that she must spend the day reclining on cushions of peach fuzz. And, too, doctors declare riding is most decidedly bad on the liver. But why worry about such minor items? Even though you are thrown once or twice, your broken legs will bring you scads of attention during those heavenly, restful months in bed.

Look here! Suppose you have tried to ride and have made several attempts at it. Probably no one ever told you the essentials of the game. You were doubtless trudging along doing the best you could, but from what you say, that best was none too good. Doesn't your common sense tell you that whenever anyone goes about an unfamiliar task the right way, she is most likely to come out on top? Well-er-ah, I can't guarantee that you will wind up on top, because one never knows what those cunning animals will do, does one? You know they, too, have a mind of their own. I hired a horse with a mind of his own once and I hadn't a leg to stand on for at least two months. Oh dear! I guess I shouldn't have mentioned that, should I? Forget what I said. It was just a pun anyway.

If you will merely buckle down to a bit of deep studying and concentration on what I am about to tell you, I'm sure you will be spurred on to make at least one more attempt. This, I am quite confident, will be so successful and to your liking that you will never say "die."

The main elements of which horseback riding consists are: (1) mounting; (2) position in the saddle; (3) handling the reins; and finally (4) putting your mount through his gaits. After you've tried to post to a trot and sit a canter, you'll probably resort to walking the horse, because your legs or what have you, will seem too utterly unable to cope with the strain. Of course, these gaits belong to a walk-trot horse. (That's a three gaited steed in your mean vernacular). If you had a five gaited beast you would then be obliged to make him slow gait and rack. However, it would be wise to confine yourself to something a little more facile at first. Then if you come out of that alive, you'll have something to look forward to. It's really a great honor to be injured while riding a five gaited horse. You see, five gaited horses are usually elegant creatures with greater spirit than is found in the ordinary livery horse, and one feels as though she were a true noblewoman attended by a cavalier when riding a "dude" of this type.

Here you are at the stable with a bright shining face plus knocking knees and chattering teeth, but only because the day is chilly, of course. Now march boldly up to your Sea Biscuit or whatever his name is. Take a look at his bridle. Is it equipped with two bits? If so, they are attached to the snaffle rein and the curb rein. It means that you, my friend, may have a little difficulty keeping your mount under control, for most often a curb bit is used on a lively horse, a horse with a mind of his own. There you stand at his left side with my instructions in your right hand and the snaffle rein in your left. Now put your left foot in the stirrup. Well, what's the matter? Get your foot in the stirrup! Oh, I see what's wrong. Your jodphurs are too tight in the knees and you can't bend your leg! Fear not, fair damsel, here comes the stable boy with a box for you to stand on. That simply is not being done this year! Next time be sure that your trousers are a bit looser. It would be curtains for your budding romance if your best beau were to see the silly spectacle you make up there on that soap box. Now swing your right leg over the horse's back and place your right foot in the stirrup. Atta girl! Nice graceful flop! Oh, well, you'll learn.

Sit back in the saddle. Oh! What posture! Straighten up! Draw your legs under you so that when you look down, your toes will be in line with your knees. Do you feel like a cork screw? Then you're in the proper position. Try, while you're riding, to keep the balls of your feet in the stirrups, your heels away from the horse so that your feet will remain almost parallel to the horse's sides, and see that your heels are lower than your toes. That's fine! Now try to stay that way.

You look worn out already. You'll probably resemble the wreck of the Hesperus by the time your hour is up. But you needn't fret, my dear. Remember that it's all for the sake of your social prestige! No, no! Don't grab the reins that way. Your hands must be light and steady. It's decidedly ruinous to a horse's mouth if you jerk the reins and pull on them all the time you are riding. You hold the snaffle rein, that is, the top rein so that you may guide the horse with a turn of the wrist and a slight pressure exerted by your last two fingers. The curb rein is held between your second and third fingers. Now hold the reins in the other hand in the same manner. Oh, you don't understand what I mean? Well, gee, I hardly know how to explain it. I'll tell you what you can do to simplify matters. Have the groom remove the curb rein; then you can hold the snaffle rein any way you like. There! Isn't that better? Whew! It saved me a lot of explaining at least!

To get the steed out of the barn just cluck to him as if you meant it, kick him in the ribs and holler, "Giddey yap, Napoleon, it looks like rain." That is, of course, if his name is Napoleon. See there, it worked, and now you're off. Wait a minute, Missy, you forgot your little red instruction book. You'd better go back and get it because I can see you would be lost without it.

Ah-h-h, luscious day in autumn! How cold, how gray, how damp! You feel like going faster? Loosen the reins a bit and cluck to him. Don't just sit there and take it! Post, you imbecile, post! Cne two, down, up, one two, down, up. Rise when you count two and then sit again on one. Naturally you can't get it just like that. It takes practice. To a beginner it seems a bit hard to do, but soon you'll stumble on to it if the horse doesn't stumble on to you first.

After you have mastered the art of posting and feel capable of delving deeper into the matter, the next step is to canter. Turn the horse's head slightly to the right, away from the path, and as you turn it toward the path again shift your weight to the left stirrup, kick him on the left side, and raise him into a canter with your reins. There you are, as simple as A B C. Or is it? After all this rigamarole is accomplished, your mighty mount should go dashing off on his left lead. My, oh, my, if you feel as shaken as you look, you have my deepest sympathy. Just sit back in our saddle, keeping a firm grip on the horse with your thighs and hold your arms steady and close to your sides. Ooops, be careful. You almost lost your instruction book. If you ever dropped it in this river of a field, my name would be Mud.

Take a look at your watch. Oh, you've only ten minutes to get back to the stable. After all, you don't want to be charged for overtime.

Well, I think I've done you all the good I possibly can at the present. Tomorrow you will have to resort to Emily Post on "The Most Ethical Manner in Which to Devour One's Breakfast, Luncheon, and Dinner While One Is Standing." Miss Post dreamed this one up after returning from a jaunt on Mrs. Astor's pet nag, Ruff-Go-Wing.

If I have not succeeded in steering you toward the career of a sore horseman, you may mail me a card addressed to Hortense Horselaff, in care of the Mane Tail of Life, Jockeyville, Indiana. I shall send you promptly my thirty-two page booklet on "How to Become an A Number One Social Outcast" free of charge, for my motto is "if at first you don't succeed, try something easier."

James C. McLauchlan

At Home — and Abroad

In the short space of nine months, James C. McLauchlan has proved himself both an instructor of merit and a friend worth knowing. Under the auspices of the English Speaking Union, Mr. McLauchlan came to Shortridge from Bell Baxter Schools, Cupar, Fife, Scotland, in exchange for H. H. Siemers of the physics department. Mr. McLauchlan graduated from the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1933, with first honors and a Master of Arts degree in mathematics and physics. He is a member of the British Officer Cadet Reserve.

While at Shortridge Mr. McLauchlan, an accomplished piper, has entertained thousands of people not only here but in some one hundred speaking engagements throughout the state. Moreover he has found time to win innumerable friends among his students and associates. In these few months he has become a true Shortridger. — Robert Bracken.

It was as an undergraduate at St. Andrews that I first resolved that one day I would visit the United States. Gradually this resolve became almost an ambition awaiting an opportune moment for its realization.

Early in 1936, I heard of the teaching exchange system of the English Speaking Union. This, I decided, was to be the opportunity, so soon as the completion of two years probationary service rendered me eligible for exchange. Just over a year ago I learned with a sense of pleasant anticipation that I was to come here for one session. That feeling of pleasure has been more than justified in the year that has followed. Not only have I learned to know something of this country, in a way impossible to the casual tourist, by living and mixing with a representative section of the population; I have been shown every possible courtesy, and have been received with boundless hospitality. I have made many delightful friendships, within the school circle, and elsewhere.

I owe a debt of gratitude, which I can never repay, to all whom I have met on a professional basis, both colleagues at Shortridge and members of the City Administration, who so effectively helped me adjust myself to a new system and environment, that I have been scarcely aware of any process of adjustment. Through their kindness and courtesy, and from observation of the spirit of co-operation and good-fellowship which typifies their relations with one another and with the pupils, I have learned to understand and respect the principles and ideals behind the Public School System as I have found it.

If I have succeeded in any small way, in promoting sympathetic understanding between this country and my own, I shall have done something in return for the inestimable value of this experience to me as an individual. I can best testify to the pleasure it has afforded me by expressing the sincere hope that I may be able to return.

— J. C. McLauchlan.

H. H. Siemers

I Was Going to be Different

I HAD BEEN nice here at Shortridge for three and one half years. Classes, teachers, friends. Nothing but happiness, learning, and teaching. But there has come a time for me to change, a time for me to be different. It is good enough for others to go on as they have gone on for years, but I must change, for I find myself growing stale and stagnant.

* * * *

It was between semesters that I got this idea, the idea that I was going to be different the last semester that I was to be in Shortridge. Eight of us had gathered one afternoon to learn to play bridge, but after we discovered that there were only two who could teach the other six, we decided that we weren't actually dying to play. We gave up the absurd idea of learning to play bridge. (My goodness, who ever heard of a person wanting to learn to play bridge?) We just sat and talked. And it was at this little gab-fest I decided that if I wanted to be anybody or do anything, I'd have to be different my last semester.

We didn't gossip. We talked about ourselves — what we wanted to be and do, and how we were going to go about being it and doing it. I seemed to be the only undecided one, but I didn't let them know it. When it came my turn to tell I said, "Oh! I think I'll be a writer or maybe an actress." Of course they laughed at me, so I ended by telling them that I was just kidding and that all along I had wanted to be a florist.

All of us had entirely diversified personalities and interests. For instance, there was our hostess, Jean, who, I thought, was the most intelligent of us all. She was well read — really well read, you know, like that reading list Miss Thomas presents to her class in Modern Literature. And I determined after talking with Jean that I would be an intellectual of the intelligentsia. I would read — really read. Not any more of this skipping around from first to middle to last chapters. I went home with two books under each arm. Four books!

After writing that I thought Jean was the most intelligent, I find myself wondering whether or not she really is. What about Ruth? Yes, what about her? She made the Honor Society, belonged to all the clubs and was a person who was wonderfully well informed. Sitting across the room from her and watching her made me remember the day she gave that marvelous speech in auditorium. It would have petrified the rest of us just to imagine ourselves in such a situation. At that time we decided that she should be a lecturer, after all her training from Mr. Shoemaker. She has such poise, such grace! I thought then, "It's too late about clubs and stuff, but maybe I could gain some poise this last semester."

Ginny was the one who had me stumped. She always looked as if she had just stepped out of a band box. Even at school in Zoo laboratory when we cut up those awful, smelly fish she didn't get them all over her as I did. She would just rinse her hands in cold water and be rid of the fishy smell, while I would wash all day at school. Even then the minute I'd step into the house, Mother'd say, "I smell something fishy." I liked Ginny. I admired her. So sophisticated and — well, she had something — I think the boys call it "It." Surely, she was popular, and as I sat listening to her talk in her smooth, even, satirical way, I believed now, this next semester I'd be different. I'd try to be a little more — well — magnetic!

Mary, funny Mary, a person who acts younger than I do, if you can believe it, spoke up with, "Well, I know one thing; I'm not going to study so much this next semester."

I thought, "Now, Mary, you are just kidding yourself; anyone who heads the Senior Honor Roll isn't going to stop — never can — it's born in her." Most generally I dislike these overly brilliant people, but Mary wasn't like them. She wasn't warped. She did something else besides study. It was at this point in the afternoon's conversation that I told the girls my pet theory for studying for the next term. I quote myself, "... to study as much about that lesson as I really want to know about and let the rest go." They laughed and said for me to try telling that to any one of my teachers, and I resolved I would. I was going to be independent. I was going to be different.

But Ann stood up for me. She was like that. Everyone loved her. She sympathized with everyone, and so everyone sympathized with her. That's why she belonged to so many clubs outside of school — to all those clubs with alphabet names that sprang up like mushrooms last semester. Even being editor of one of the Echoes hadn't changed her sunny disposition. I remembered the time I happened to pop into the bedlam of the Echo room and wondered how anyone could be sane and still stay there with all that yelling going on. It was then and there that I decided that sometime I would pay tribute to all Echo sponsors. I hope that they will consider this mention enough of a tribute until I get around to writing a proper one. I just asked the girls, "Do you suppose I can acquire a disposition like Ann's and learn to be sympathetic in one semester?" They did not answer.

For awhile the conversation turned to clothes, diet, exercise, and health. And why shouldn't it? We had a perfect example of the best of these things right in our midst. Shirley played basketball, baseball, volleyball, and could do all sorts of things on side horses, parallel bars, and other gym apparatus. She was a picture of health, had lovely physical stature (I mean a good figure) and consequently wore her clothes well. As she walked across the room I envied her and asked if she knew of any exercise which would straighten my bow legs. She immediately had me kicking. I made up my mind that I would do this exercise every night from then on. If it didn't help my legs, it might help my hips. I could gain more grace and style. Good heavens! People won't know me this next semester I'll be so different.

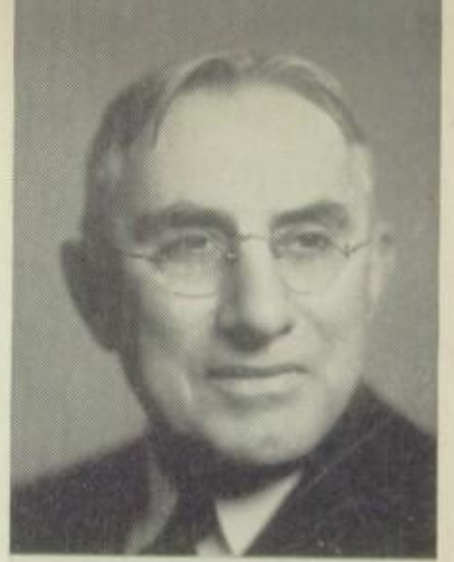

Quiet and reserved Margaret finally spoke, saying, "At the basketball game Saturday night, (wasn't it swell?) Bill and I..." She represented one of those girls who go steady. I approved of them, but was it for me? I had gone with Joe two months, with Dick two weeks and with Tom two days. I sort of wander — can't settle down. I wondered, do you suppose — oh! no, I couldn't be that settled in one semester!

* * * *

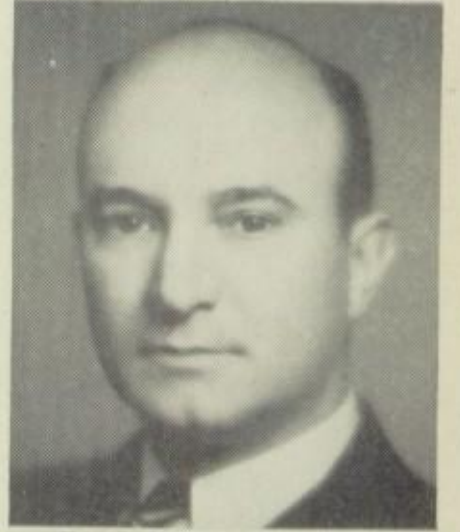

Here it is the end of four years — the end of that semester in which I was going to be entirely different. But instead of gaining all those traits of character possessed by my friends, which I admired so much, I find fellow classmen and teachers saying to me as I leave these Shortridge halls, "Well, Katy, you are just as you were when I first knew you as a Freshman. You are just the same. You haven't changed. You aren't a bit different!"

Captain Shade

Do you remember a small five foot, four inch Shortridge half-back who twisted, squirmed, and fought his way through a determined Tech Green and White eleven on a sunny afternoon last November 11 with a crowd of wild, screaming Blue Devil fans urging him goal-ward? If you do, you remember the final game of an excellent Shortridge gridiron season, one of the best in the school's history and one that we will long remember.

This miniature cannon was Robert Scott, "Scotty" to most of us, who led the attack of the Blue and White that day and had the Tech defense dizzy with his great offensive performance. "Scotty" scored two touchdowns, behind some very timely blocking, that gave the Blue Devils a 12 to 6 victory over Tech and undisputed possession of the mythical city championship crown.

Coach Robert Nipper and his city champs left a devastating trail behind them, not only in the city and state, but over in Ohio as well. In one of the highlights of the season the squad enjoyed a field day, one of many, and handed the Stivers Orangecrushers a bitter 27 to 6 defeat.

Starting with the opening game the Blue Devils started a four game winning streak only to be interrupted unexpectedly by the Jeff of Lafayette Broncos in mid-season. They bounced right back, however, and resumed their winning ways by dropping Washington, Crawfordsville, Cathedral, and Tech for their final victory string of four.

The Broad Ripple Rockets turned out to be only a slight fizzle in the Blue's initial encounter as Shortridge dropped them 33 to 0. It was the first game played in the new stadium.

The Southport Redbirds were next to feel the sting of the Blue Devil horns, for Dave Smith had himself a touchdown party on the night of September 23, and scored twenty-seven points. The final score was Shortridge 34 — Southport 0. On Dedication Day, October 7, the Culver Cadets invaded the Blue and White stronghold and went home a sorrier crew for doing so. Nipper's boys played heads up ball that day and by blocking two punts, gained a 9 to 0 decision.

Then came the first black mark on the schedule. Maybe it was because

Wagner Winner
Winegardner

Signal Caller

it was a night game, but anyway, after the boys had traveled all the way to Lafayette what did the Broncos do but hand them a 7 to 0 setback. Shortridge was hampered somewhat by the injury jinx as Brad Hoelscher and John Allerdice were out of action. However, Jim Stiver and several of the other substitutes turned in reliable performances.

The Blue Devils jumped right back into the win column the next week, however, and pasted the Washington Continentals with a 23 to 6 defeat which the Continentals found very hard to take. It was in that game that Nelson Johnson, reliable full-back and signal-caller, cracked his foot and was out of action as the boys hit the home stretch.

Cathedral's Fighting Irish were not so fighting on the afternoon of October 26 and with Kenny Smock, John Allerdice and Walter Williams, and the rest of the team playing a super brand of ball, the Blue downed the Irish 12 to 0.

A rainy, muddy afternoon was the setting for the next tilt but the boys showed that all the elements could not stop them and went right ahead and finished off the Crawfordsville Athenians 27 to 0.

Then finally came the annual battle with Tech, with Shortridge showing once again her supremacy "on the field."

Myron Winegardner received the most improved player award, the Herbert T. Wagner trophy, and Robert Shade received the most valuable player award, the Frank J. Skinner trophy.

Shortridge players received seven out of the fifteen Purdue medals awarded to the city's best football players. The seven Shortridge players were: Brad Hoelscher, end; Hugh Dalzell, tackle; Myron Winegardner, guard; Walter Williams, center; Kenny Smock, Robert Shade and Robert Scott, backs.

VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD

BASKETBALL

The end of another year . . . the performance of the never forgettable Fred Krampe . . . the overtime Jeff tilt . . . Washington Continentals and the city tourney . . . that high scoring Lebanon game . . . Manual's city champs swamped . . .

Hardy

avenging the loss to Washington. All are jumbled recollections to the reader. Coach Kenneth Peterman's boys did not get all of the breaks of the season, nor did they get all of the knocks. Ending their season in the semi-finals of the Indianapolis sectionals, the Blue Devils finished with a record of twelve wins and eight losses.

* * * * *

Reserves finished the game for the varsity in their initial tilt against Greenfield, who had been smothered under an avalanche of buckets, 45-27. . . . Noblesville went down under the Blue Devil pressure, 44-16. Dick Gage and Fred Krampe led the attack. . . . When Greencastle was subdued by the Blue netters, 24 to 19, people began to take notice. . . . Shelbyville turned the tide, coming from behind to edge out the locals in a heart breaker, 32-31. . . . A tough Southport quintet was trounced 32-21 with Billy Hardy leading Shortridge. . . . Tech went down in its eighth straight defeat when Peterman's boys dropped their arch-rivals in the east-side goalhouse, 37-28. . . . Before the new year, Central of Evansville turned back the locals, 32-26. . . . A feed from Krampe to Hardy gave the Blue Devils a 39-37 decision in an overtime contest with Jeff of Lafayette. . . . Cathedral was whipped 39-28 at Tech. . . . Then came the jinx with Washington downing Shortridge 40-38 in the first game of the city, repeating their feat for the third time in three years. . . . Columbus went down in a surprise swamping, 47-27, but Rushville's forward, Clifford Hartwell, spelled defeat to the locals to the tune of eight field goals. The score — 32-31. . . . Crawfordsville kept well ahead of the visitors to win out 39-34, but the Blue Devils, with renewed spirit, came back the next night to defeat Lebanon, 55-42, on our home floor. Krampe led Shortridge in its highest score of the year. . . . City Champs, Manual fell by the wayside as "Pete's" men turned on the heat in the last quarter. . . . Kokomo came from behind to win in an overtime, 32-30. . . . The Anderson Indians defeated the Blue Devils, 28-24, in their last scheduled game of the season. . . . Sectional competition saw Broad Ripple bow, 36-23, and the boys win the Washington contest pulling away. . . . Decatur Central proved the stumbling block in the semi-finals, ending the high school basketball careers for several Shortridge aces . . .

Hesler

Allerdice

Big Fred Krampe topped the scoring with 206 points for the twenty games — a little better than ten to a game. Bill Hardy followed with 109, Ralph Hesler with 108, and John Allerdice with 105.

Block "S" letters were awarded to center, Fred Krampe; forwards, Ralph Hesler, John Allerdice, and Jim Stiver; and guards, Frank Levinson, Dick Gage, Bob Raber, and Bill Hardy. All are seniors with the exception of guard Dick Gage, a junior. Ripley Harrison, student manager of the team for three years, also received a letter.

BIG FRED

When Fred Krampe decided to attend Shortridge four years ago, few realized that this school was to receive one of its best ball players in a long time. Many looked on with interest when, in his freshman year, Fred led the Rhinies through a victorious season. The sophomore year saw him move to the varsity. Last year as a Junior center, he led the team through one of its most successful seasons, scoring 227 points. No one can forget the fine record this six foot four inch boy turned in this year. At the close of the season he was awarded the George V. Underwood award for the most valuable varsity player and was a United Press choice for all-state second team. Shortridge will lose a fine boy when Fred Krampe graduates. They do not come much finer.

RESERVE — FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Coach Claude Keesling's reserves had a successful hardwood season this year, enjoying a record of eleven won and only five lost. Sophomore Charles Benjamin, high scorer for the squad with 65 points, received the George V. Underwood award for the most valuable reserve player. High scorers with Benjamin were sophomores, Dave Strack with 57 points, and Bob Paddock with 54. Benjamin was promoted to the varsity several weeks before the end of the season and center Lawrence Yeager was moved up before the sectionals. Reserves bidding for varsity berths next season will be Freihofer, Wiley, Cunningham, Yaeger, Paddock, Strack, Weakley, West, Bockstahler, Herin, Levinson, and Fears.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Coach Tom Woods' Freshman team chalked up an impressive record in city Freshman basketball circles this year. The Rhinie squad ended their season with a record of thirteen won and only three lost; in city competition they lost only to Washington early in the season. The victorious Blue Imps ended their season with a total of 317 points against the foes' 252.

Bernie Casselman, sparkplug of the team, scored twelve points in the Broad Ripple game, the last of the season, to hang up a new season's scoring record for freshman basketball at Shortridge. Casselman, in his sixteen games, garnered a total of 113 points.

RESERVE BASKETBALL TEAM

Coach Don R. Knight's tracksters had heavy responsibilities to accept from last year's team when they opened their campaign against Kokomo, April 7, at the Tech field. This, however, did not seem to bother them as they easily swamped the Kats, $74\frac{1}{2}$ to $59\frac{1}{2}$.

The Blues captured five firsts and nine seconds in this initial meet.

On April 17, the Blue Devils continued their winning ways and downed the Broncos of Lafayette, 76 to 24. Four grand slams were recorded as well as nine firsts.

The team placed third in the Muncie Relays on April 22. Fred Maynard, ace junior hurdler, Harry Ellis, senior hurdler, and the two relay teams accounted for the fourteen points.

Tech's supremacy in track was once again proved as they ran away with the annual city meet held April 28 at Tech. Shortridge was second.

The Big Green's superior man power enabled them to win the sectional for the fifth straight year 67 to 47. However, Tech placed twelve men in the state finals and Shortridge only one less.

GOLF

At the time the Shortridge Annual went to press, the Blue Devil golfers had turned in a record of eight victories and only one loss. Coach Simon P. Roache started his season with easy conquests over Washington and Southport over the week-end of April 17. The following week the golfers defeated Tech but split a twin bill with Columbus. Anderson, Culver, and Franklin bowed to the Satans in the next three matches. Matches yet to be played were with Southport, Franklin, Tech, and Anderson. The following boys were certified for the State Tournament, held on May 20: Dick Stackhouse, Bob Stackhouse, George O'Neil, Dick Gilliom, Dick Mercer, and Bob Sielken.

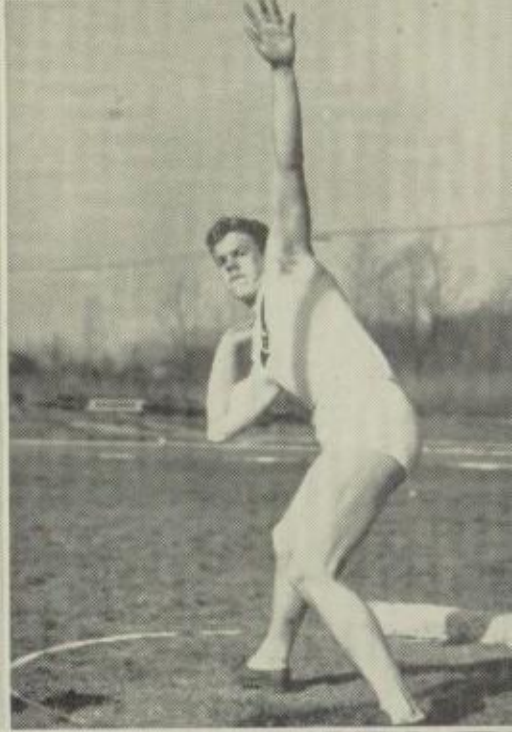

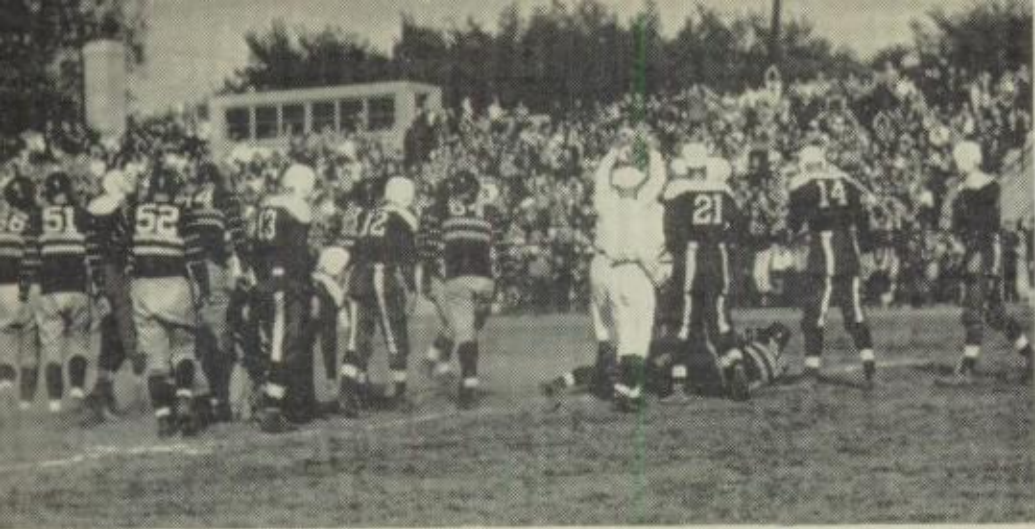

TENNIS

With victories over Wiley of Terre Haute and Burris of Muncie behind them, Coach Howard Wood and his racquet men faced a schedule of seven matches on May 10. Wiley was defeated, 4-2, on the Riviera Club courts, April 28. On May 5 the team traveled to Muncie and returned boasting a 4-0 victory over the Burris tennisters. Active in the competition early in the season were Roger Lewis, Bill Gehrlein, Roger Downs, Andy Diddel, Joe Boleman, and Paul McCreary.

Louie Mueller —

Louie Mueller is a person that might or might not be familiar to you. But to the majority of athletes, since way back when, Louie has been a pal in distress, a friend in need, and a staunch backer of every Shortridge athletic event.

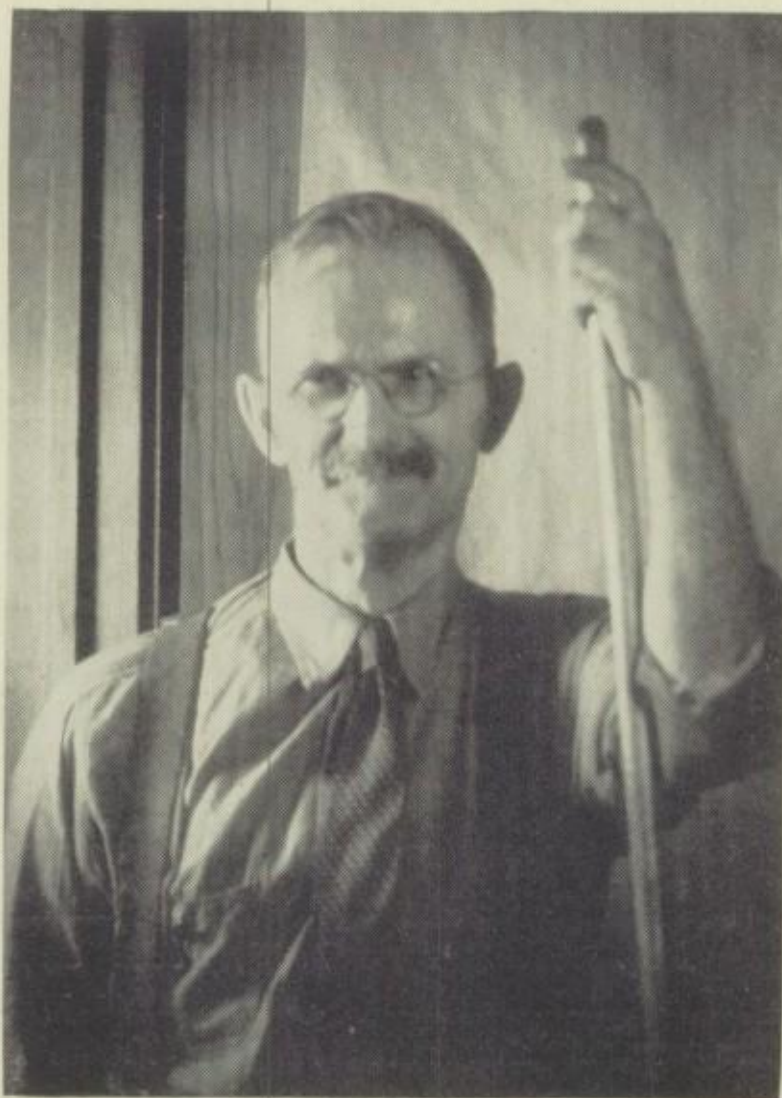

This lovable fellow is a favorite, not only with the school's athletes, but with every boy who ever took gym. Louie is a lost and found department, a locker "fixer-upper" and above all he typifies the true Shortridger. Even in defeat he comes up smiling and does his best to make you feel cheerful again. He always has a few words of consolation or congratulation. Whatever he says he means.

Louie was one of the first to sing the praises of the football squad of '36 when it drubbed Tech 19 to 6 to win permanent possession of the Indianapolis School Board championship cup; he was the chief congratulator and consoler of the '36 hardwood team when it captured the local sectional crown only to lose to Anderson in the initial regional tilt.

Each year of our four years at Shortridge, finds no change in Louie. His favorite spot in school is in front of the athletic office, waving good-morning to all he knows. He gets immense pleasure speaking to his friends and the usual "Hello Louie" he gets in return.

Records do not show when Louie first came to Shortridge and nobody seems to have a definite idea just how long he has been here. Yet we know that Louie, our Louie, has been and always will be a loyal Shortridger in every sense of the word.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

SHORTRIDGE FIELD

In November of 1936, after endless effort on the part of Russell S. Julius and several other Indianapolis Public School officials, a Works Progress Administration grant was finally received and work was started on a modern athletic plant at the Shortridge field. Today each and every Shortridger is justly proud of that stadium.

Numerous difficulties were encountered before the field was brought into its present excellent condition. Among the improvements were filling in the field and leveling it off, resodding the field, rebuilding the track, constructing a concrete stadium with a seating capacity of approximately 1800, and building a press box. Underneath the stadium are lockers for two hundred athletes, dressing rooms for each team, showers and equipment rooms. It would indeed satisfy any football coach's desire.

An impressive gateway, built with money presented to the stadium fund by the class of '38, is another feature. A bronze plaque, engraved with the names of the donors, will soon be placed on the gateway.

Shortridge can now "point with pride" to its athletic stadium.

GIRLS' SPORTS

BASKETBALL

The Basketball varsity blazed through a triumphant season winning all six games. This is the second consecutive year that the varsity has remained undefeated. The captain, who led the girls in points during the season, was Mary Ann Rice, a varsity player for three years. The other members of the varsity were Patsy Jackson, Dorothy Nelson, Betty Willingham, Martha Moore, Barbara Thompson, Elizabeth Roth, Edna Liljeblad, Mary Jean Reis, Ritajean Hancock, Norma Miller, and Betty Woodbury, who has been on the varsity for three years.

PHILATERON CLUB

The Philateron Club is an organization based on three principles, to further friendship, sportsmanship, and scholarship among the girls interested in athletics in Shortridge. All girls who have earned 500 points by participating in the various extra-curricular athletic activities are eligible for membership.

The officers of the club are Mary Ann Rice, president; Rita Jean Hancock, vice-president; Norma Miller, secretary; Betty Willingham, treasurer; and Edna Liljeblad, sergeant-at-arms.

EFFICIENCY CONTEST

The Efficiency contest is held annually during the fall semester in the gym classes. Awards are given to the students having the highest number of points won in the gym aims during that semester. This fall's winners were as follows: Gym V-VIII, Sue Mellet; Gym IV, Mickey Roth; Gym I, second hour, Louanna McCreary; Gym II, third hour, Ethyl Gilbert; Gym I, fourth hour, Rena Buffington; Gym III, fifth hour, Zelda Klezmer; Gym II, sixth hour, Helen Haley; Gym III, seventh hour, Margaret Sigler; and Gym I, eighth hour, Jane Haramy. The award for these winners is one-hundred points toward their athletic sweaters, and an English "S" monogram.

HOCKEY

SWEATER GIRLS

In athletics the highest honor a girl can obtain is the Shortridge sweater. For this she must earn 1,000 points in any of the following activities: tennis, hemingway, hockey, basketball, volley ball, soft-ball, efficiency and posture contests, swimming achievements, and Gym Exhibitions. The number of points offered in any of these activities is never over 100 and usually much less. Since this honor requires infinite work and determined perserverance, only six of the many girls participating in athletics have won it. They are in the order in which they received their sweaters: Betty Woodburv, Mary Ann Rice, Norma Miller, Patsy Jackson, Edna Liljeblad, and Dorothy Nelson.

During this year's volleyball campaign a demonstration of the lead-up type of volleyball was given. A select group of girls played in this game against the Indiana University freshmen. The Shortridge team used rotation service, while the Indiana team used the non-rotation style.

A team captained by Edna Liljeblad won this year's intramural championship. Each girl will receive 75 points and a monogram. Miss Kathryn Thompson is sponsor of the volleyball league.

Eleanor Richwine

Thelma Simmons

Katherine Thompson

GIRLS' GYM COACHES

Miss Kathryn Thompson is sponsor of the spring and fall tennis tournaments as well as coach of freshman basketball, advanced volleyball and sponsor of the Philateron and Archery Clubs. Miss Thompson instructed a group of girls for two demonstrations for the Mid-West Physical Education Association.

Miss Thelma Simmons instructs advanced and freshman hockey as well as freshman basketball and volleyball. She was the first to include horseback riding in extra-curricular activities by organizing the Equestrienne Club.

Miss Eleanor Richwine, coach of the girls' basketball varsity is also sponsor of advanced intramural basketball, hemingway, baseball, and freshman volleyball. The girls' varsity has won sixteen of its seventeen games in the past three years. This year the Girls' Bowling League was organized, and completed its first tournament and season successfully.

Betty Roth

Louanna McCreary

GIRLS' TENNIS

Sixty-four girls entered the annual fall tennis tournament. From the very first round until the last ball sailed over the net, the tourney proved exciting and eventful. The big surprise of the year was Louanna McCreary, a Freshman, who battled her way up to the finals and there was defeated by the steady stroking of a fine player. It was a real victory for Elizabeth Roth, our second time tennis queen.

Two other girls who deserve recognition are Betty Ronk and Patty Jackson who climbed up the ladder step by step to the semi-finals where they met with superior opposition, and were eliminated.

PRESS CLUB

PRESS CLUB

Members of the Press Club enjoyed several interesting programs throughout the year. Approximately thirty-three members attended the National Scholastic Press Association Convention which was held in Indianapolis, November 10, 11, and 12, 1938. The following students were chosen to introduce outstanding speakers who participated in the program: Dave Baernkopf, Sol Blickman, Marian Donnelly, Jeanette Elkin, Barbara Jones, Sue Mellett, Jack Siegesmund, Josephine Smith, Rosanne Smith, Richard Stark, Bob Bracken, Pat Sylvester, and Allan D. Vestal. Others who attended the sessions were Charlotte Tindall, Marvin Borman, Justin Frommer, Norma Gill, Joe Goldsmith, James Good, Peggy Gray, Gaar Johnson, Victor Jose, Judith Krohngold, Martha Lou Sunderland, Bob Ochiltree, John Osborne, Katherine Parrish, Wilma Rothenburger, Bill Shirley, Mary Stone, Mary Jane Hess, and Edrea Jane Yaeger. Four members of the English department, Miss Grace Shoup, Miss Helen Zitzlaff, Miss Charlotte Bruce, and Charles J. Wilkerson, were also present at the meetings.

At the conference, the "Echo" was discussed by Dean Kenneth E. Olson, Medill School of Journalism, Northwestern University. Copies of the paper were distributed to visiting delegates. The most prominent speaker of the convention was Theodore Dreiser, noted American writer and critic.

Another feature of the club's season was a debate and open forum concerning the use and number of personals in the "Echo." The negative was upheld by Allan D. Vestal, and the affirmative, in favor of an entire third page of personals, by Bob Bracken. The entire club entered into the discussion.

Miles Tiernan, city editor of "The Indianapolis Star," addressed the group on the problems of newspaper work as a career. Jane Jordan, columnist for "The Indianapolis Times," spoke to the club on her experiences in dealing with the public through the newspaper. Rosanne Smith, editor of Friday's Echo, told of her experiences at the 1938 Northwestern University Summer School of Journalism. She described the educational and social aspects of her stay in Evanston.

Officers for the year were Allan D. Vestal, president; Margaret Studebaker, secretary; and Margaret Jameson, program chairman.

Echoes Through The Years

The school year of 1938-39 marked the fortieth anniversary of the "Echo." Through the co-operation of the Press Club, the art department, the library, and the English department, an exhibit was set up in a third floor display window, and publicity regarding the anniversary appeared in the local press.

The "Echo" was founded in 1898 through the efforts of Fletcher Wagner, a senior in the old Shortridge High School, then located at Pennsylvania and Michigan streets. Thus, this year the pupils and faculty of the new high school celebrated the fortieth anniversary of the world's largest and oldest daily high school paper.

In the process of forty years' development, the "Echo" has undergone many changes as to sponsorship, style, and make-up. It was preceded by two weekly newspapers at Shortridge, those being the "Silent Spectator" in 1896 and the "Comet" in 1897. The first edition of the "Echo," edited by Fletcher Wagner, was sponsored by Miss Laura Donnan. Miss Donnan sponsored all the editions of the week for several years. Later the system was changed so that each day's edition was sponsored by a different teacher. The same system came to apply to the editing, so today there is a different staff for each day of the week. Many Shortridge graduates who have since attained distinction in various fields served on the "Echo" while they were in Shortridge.

The picture shows the anniversary display which appeared in one of the third floor windows last year. In the exhibit are a copy of the first "Echo," which was printed September 26, 1898, and editions of 1900, 1918, and 1928.

Student Council

The Student Council, sponsored by James C. Beane, is a group elected by the student body to cooperate with the faculty and the students in discussing and settling important school matters.

The Council consists of five Seniors and four Juniors who are elected by their respective classes. The Senior members are Sol Blickman, Bob Bracken, Phyllis Hadden, Ralph Hesler, and Marian Wilcox, with Jack Brown and Sue Ann Knippenburg as alternates.

The Junior representatives are Ann Bishop, Tom Purky, Dave Savidge, and Ann Shaw, with Susan Alvis and Ben Hitz as alternates.

Three Sophomores and two Freshmen are selected by the Faculty Advisory Committee and the regular Council members. Those chosen to serve this year were Bill Evans, Phil Houston, and Dorothy Ottinger, Sophomores; Francis Hamlin and Arthur Pratt, Freshmen.

In September temporary officers were elected to serve until all new members were decided upon, and these were Phyllis Hadden, chairman; Ralph Hesler, vice-president; Marian Wilcox, secretary. When the Council was established permanently for the year, the officers who were elected were Phyllis Hadden, president; Ann Bishop, vice-president; Dorothy Ottinger, secretary.

In addition to the usual activities of the Council such as the assignment of lunch tables and the appointing of hostesses for the doors, the group this year sponsored the sale of programs for the dedication of the new Shortridge athletic field. A special auditorium was held by the Council to sponsor the sale of these programs, and the money taken in was turned over to the athletic office to help pay the debt for the field. Another project was the buying of new outfits for the three yell leaders with money taken from the treasury of the Council.

R. O. T. C. News

The Shortridge Battalion of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, under the guidance of Staff Sergeant Albert Neff, has enjoyed a most successful year.

At their annual Federal Inspection last spring, the unit won the Plaque, for proficiency in drill. The Plaque is donated by the Reserve Officers. In addition to this, there were twelve awards given to the cadets of the unit for their outstanding merits. The most important of these is the Saber, which is given as the result of competitive examination of all the R. O. T. C. officers in the city of Indianapolis. It was won by Cadet William Cochrane, and has been presented to Shortridge officers for the last three consecutive years.

The Shortridge Battalion, again upholding its tradition for proficiency, demonstrated the quality of its training by making a record showing in the Armistice Day parade, thereby winning the American Legion Battle Streamer. Later Cadet Captain Jack Davis, together with other Honor Cadets of the city, was invited to attend the Annual National Guard dinner.

Under the sponsorship of the Officers' Club, which is composed of the fourteen officers of the Shortridge Battalion, the unit participated in the annual Family Frolic. Through the co-operation of Cadet Captain Stanley Swartz, Corporal John Leslie, and Captain Ball and his staff from Company H, 151st Infantry, they were able to show one of the most complete exhibits of infantry weapons and equipment ever shown in the city.

The officers of this club are Cadet Captain Stanley Swartz, president; Cadet Captain Stuart Gerard, vice-president; Cadet Captain Jack Davis, secretary; and Cadet Lieutenant Francis Curtis, treasurer.

This year, for the first time in its history, the R. O. T. C. has had suitable training grounds. On the newly acquired campus, north of the school, the cadets are able to drill in safety and are thus able to accomplish many things which they were previously unable to attempt.

DEBATING

A series of startling successes climaxed by the first state championship in Shortridge history was the record of the Shortridge debate squad, coached by C. C. Shoemaker, during the 1939 season. Members of the teams for the State Debate Tournament were affirmative, Richard Stark, captain, and Russell Fee; negative, Allan Vestal, captain, and Marvin Borman.

The preliminary debate season opened with a non-decision debate with Knightstown and a practice tournament at Terre Haute. In sectional competition the Blue squad emerged victorious over both the affirmative and negative teams of Washington and Crispus Attucks. The victories of last year over Technical were repeated again this year and thus Shortridge remained undefeated in either sectional or city competition. After winning the sectional championship, Shortridge triumphed in regional competition by winning a double debate from Bedford at Bloomington, Indiana.

In addition to the members of the state tournament squad the Tri-State teams consisted of Phil Robertson and Fred Wiecking, alternate, on the affirmative and Jack Siegesmund and David Savidge, alternate, on the negative. On March 17 the Shortridge affirmative in the competition at Indianapolis won a unanimous decision over Male High School of Louisville. The Shortridge negative team which had traveled to Walnut Hills High School at Cincinnati suffered the only defeat of the season, being downed by a two to one decision.

A practice debate with the DePauw freshmen prepared the state teams for the final test. On March 31 and April 1 the state debate squad traveled to Manchester College where after triumphing over Princeton and Clark of Hammond, they defeated New Albany in the state finals. This victory which brought the state debating championship to Shortridge concluded one of the most successful seasons in the school's history.

Special speakers from Shortridge were active as usual during the 1938-1939 school year. Marvin Borman, Russell Fee, Beatrice McHenry, Wilma Rothenburger, Jack Siegesmund, Richard Stark, and Robert Stump all spoke in the annual community fund drive. Jack Siegesmund placed third in the State Oratorical Contest held at Wabash College. Allan Vestal was the Shortridge entrant in the District Discussion Contest, and Dick Stark and Marvin Borman were the two contestants from Shortridge in the State Extemporaneous Speaking Contest, which was held at DePauw University.

THE SENATE

Founded over a half-century ago, the Senate has long been an estimable extra-curricular activity. This club trains its members in parliamentary procedure and develops interest in legislative activities. Patterned much after the United States Senate, the club has had discussions on bills dealing with such subjects as socialized medicine, neutrality, rearmament and relief. Among its activities the Senate has held a mock trial and a discussion contest. Last fall, the Senate also honored its sponsor, Russell Sigler, of the history department, with a gift for a decade of service. The annual banquet concluded the year's activities.

FICTION CLUB

First row: Ann Browning, Wilma Rothenburger, Susanne Clark, Joan Dougan, Patricia Sylvester. Second row: Victor Jose, James Hall, Mary Glossbrenner, Palmer Skaar, Robert Stump.

Guest speakers at the Fiction Club this year have been Mr. Charles Wilkerson, Mrs. Mary Dye Beach, Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton, and Mr. James C. McLauchlan, all of the Shortridge faculty, Miss Mary Orvis of Indiana University Extension Division and Mr. Robert Tucker of the Indianapolis Star. From the proceeds of a rummage sale, held at Mayer Chapel, the club was able to purchase a piano. Officers were Bill Shirley and Jim Hall, presidents; Joan Dougan and Wilma Rothenberger, vice-presidents; Susanne Clark and Pat Sylvester, secretaries; Katherine Parrish and Jack O'Brien, treasurers; and Bruce Cameron and Rosanne Smith, program chairmen.

GREENWICH POETRY CLUB

The Junior Drama League is a club primarily for freshmen. Its purpose is to prepare its members for the Senior Drama League. Mrs. Hattie Lou Winslow, of the history department, is the sponsor. The club's officers were Francille Kaylor, president; Betty Jane Bair, vice-president; Annette Short, secretary; Mary Virginia Gammon, treasurer; Nelda Smith, program chairman.

"LE CERCLE FRANCAIS"

One day last fall Judith Redwine approached Mrs. Alice Denny with an idea. She considered that an organized and sponsored extra-curricular activity would benefit the more advanced students in their conversational French and would familiarize them with the names, places, and customs of modern France. That was the inspiration for "Le Cercle Francais." (The French Circle.) The meetings are presided over by Judith Redwine. In case of her absence, Barbie Frederickson has full power. Mildred Kapherr writes the minutes, and Marcia Warren collects the dues. The members speak French at meetings.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club, sponsored by Miss Louise Reiter, enjoyed talks by Gerald and Ruth Paul, and Werner Heinemann, all Shortridgers who have recently come over from Germany, and Mrs. Severin Buschmann. The members were entertained at initiation, Christmas, and mid-semester parties, and the mothers of students in the department were entertained at a tea. Two of the club's most successful projects were the "Pretzelbude" at the Family Frolic, and a play they presented using all German dialogue. Club officers were Robert Sielken and Witt Hadley, presidents; Margaret Fleischer and Edrea Jane Yaeger, vice-presidents; Margaret Studebaker and Renate Smolenski, secretaries; Max Marsh and Irwin Ulrich, treasurers.

DAS SHORTRIDGE DEUTSCHE ECHO

In December, 1937, Das Shortridge Deutsche Echo made its first appearance and has appeared semi-annually every Christmas and spring. The paper, written and edited by students of the German department and sponsored by Mr. Lester Groth, is made up of articles which are selected on a competitive basis. The Echo has attained wide spread interest among high schools and colleges in Indiana and other states. Students in advanced German classes are chosen to serve on the staff. The staff for the year was headed by Irwin Ulrich.

Climaxed by an annual trip to the post office, this year's activities of the Stamp Club included the sponsorship of a display window exhibit, stamp auctions, and trading contests between the members of the club. Several talks before the members helped fulfill the club's purpose of arousing and promoting interest in philately. The sponsor, Mr. Willard Gambold, and the presidents, Henry Wakeland and John Leslie, guided the destinies of the club during the year.

The Math Club, sponsored by Miss Ellen Ocker, was entertained chiefly with lectures on various mathematical subjects. The members assisted failing mathematics students and sponsored a booth at the Family Frolic as some of their projects. Officers of the club were Fred Jones and Jack Siegesmund, president; Pat Federmann and Margaret Jameson, vice-presidents; Margaret Jameson and Ann Browning, secretaries; and Witt Hadley and Jim Thurston, treasurers.

Activities of the Chem Club have been varied and different. Six members attended the Junior Academy of Science meeting at Purdue the first of November. For speakers the club used its own talent. The officers of the fall term were Morris Green, president; Betty Lewis, secretary and treasurer; Marcus Goldman, publicity chairman; Bill Lewis, tryout chairman. In the spring term the president and the treasurer were the same and June Walters was vice-president and Melvina Kelch, secretary. Miss Lois Martin is the sponsor.

MYTHOLOGY CLUB

The Mythology Club, sponsored by Miss Laura Rupp, studies and presents mythical plays and stories. The mythical stories and plays help to coordinate the myths with English literature. Club parties are held during different parts of the year to promote sociability and friendliness among the members. Fall officers were Charles Wilson, president; Peggy Fatout, vice-president; Gwendolyn Brock, secretary; and Christena Cherpas, treasurer; Christena Cherpas, president; Carolyn Clevenger, vice-president; Helen Thompson, secretary; and Charles Wilson, treasurer.

PRE-TIME CLUB

First row: Josephine Forrest, Margaret Collman, Jackie Walker, Betty Ann Leich, Nahoma Schneider. Second row: Mr. Howard Wright, sponsor, Byrl Taylor, Mary Blackburn, Adeline Cooling, Noble DeRoin.

The Pre-Time Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Howard Wright of the science department, is a group which is interested in prehistoric times, its life-forms, and its geographical conditions. This year the individual members made charts showing amounts of land submerged and exposed through out the different geological periods of the earth's development. The club's officers were Byrle Taylor, president; Noble DeRoin, vice-president; and Nahomi Schneider, secretary-treasurer. The club had a display at the Family Frolic of a prehistoric restoration done in clay. They also had a display in one of the show windows.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. C. L. Morrison, the Fencing Club entered its fourth year as a Shortridge extra-curricular activity. The club endeavors to instruct its members in the art of fencing and in the many and exact rules of the art. Tournaments are held at each meeting and plans are now in progress to have bouts between halves of the basketball games. Student leaders in the club for the year have been Joe Coleman, president; John McRae, vice-president; and James Thurston, secretary-treasurer.

ARCHERY CLUB

Kneeling: Joan Miller, Mary Zink, Nancy Milburn, Betty Miller, Betsy Walker, Joan Robinson. Standing: John Manien, Lowry Davidson, Helen Billiter, Mary Worsham, Miss Kathryn Thompson, sponsor, Marian Sturm, Mildred Kapherr, Martha Hofman, Marianne Daries.

The Archery Club, sponsored by Miss Kathryn Thompson, was organized last fall by a group of students interested in archery. This club has the twofold purpose of providing an organization for experienced archers and a medium through which beginners may learn the sport. This year the membership has been unrestricted and open both to boys and girls. Bi-monthly meetings were held throughout the year with the members using the archery ranges at Riverside Park and the indoor ranges at Butler.

TRUE BLUE CLUB

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Della Thompson, Dean of Girls, and Marie Wagner, president, the True Blue Club, with its important department known as the Big Sisters, headed by Sallie Vaught, has carried on the tradition of assisting the Freshman to become familiar with the school, and has sponsored many other activities for which this club is noted. The Booster department, in charge of Barbara Krieg, handled the financial affairs, the treasury being greatly helped by the sale of ice-cream at the home basketball games. The necrology division, under Janet Johnson, wrote the notes of condolence. All Echo notices concerning activities of the club were handled by the publicity department, in charge of Annette Short. With the money earned through the various projects, the club bought Venetian blinds for Mr. Rice's office, and also paid for the building materials used in the refreshment stand erected on the new Shortridge athletic field. In addition to this, twenty-five dollars was given to Mr. Julius for the debt retirement on the new field. Two parties, directed by Bettie Steinkamp, were given in the past year. The other assisting officers of the club were Joanne Krouse, Marjorie Rafnel, Edwina King, Sarah Andrews, and Margery Gorham.

FIRST AID ASSISTANTS

One of the most progressive clubs in Shortridge is the Scout Club, sponsored by Mr. Joel Hadley. This club carried on a program which has benefited every person in Shortridge, as well as the school property itself. The club has had numerous guest speakers. Among these were Miss Rousseau McClellan, Miss Mabel Washburn, and Mr. H. F. Mosebaugh, of the Indiana Department of Conservation. The boys prepared for tests in Conservation, Civics, Pathfinding, and Weather Merit Badges. The officers were Jim Hall, president; Dan Orewiler, vice-president; and John Thornberry, secretary.

CAMP-FIRE GIRLS

The Shortridge Neta group of the Campfire Girls, under the sponsorship of Mrs. H. K. Cain, is one of the most active in the city. During the first of the year the girls had weiner roasts, hikes, and a Christmas party and caroling. More recently they took part in the Northside Ceremonials, and in the musical program for the City-Wide Campfire Girls' party. Officers for the year were Pat McGuire, president; Ruth Feldman, vice-president and scribe; and Mary Zink, treasurer.

SENIOR GIRL SCOUT CLUB

The Senior Girl Scout Club, newest organization in Shortridge, meets every second Monday of the month. Miss Helen Zitzlaff of the English faculty is the sponsor. The officers of the club are as follows: Edrea Jane Yaeger, president; Mary Jane Hess, vice-president; Marian Sturm, secretary. At their first meeting they had as a guest Miss Dorothy Hande, a representative of the Indianapolis Girl Scout Organization. In the future, the club plans to try in some way to be of service to Shortridge and next year it intends to have a program of speakers who will talk to the girls on many varied subjects.

CROQUIS CLUB

Roll: Miss Jane Messick, sponsor, Adeline Cooling, Carolyn Bock, Barbara Reincken, Betty Ireland, Doris Becker, Patricia Best, George Hinesley, Marjorie Dobson, Jane Bastian, Jane Wright, Jean Bosson, Charleen Dabbs, Dorothy Ottinger, Mary Smyrnis, Minerva Long, Phyllis Heidenreich, Leah Schneider, Nahoma Schneider, Ann Shaw, Betty Lou Nolen, Virginia Ford. Members not in picture: Mary Elizabeth Black, Sally Evans, Ruth Moreland, Mary Helen Whitaker. New members since picture: Betty Lang, Marilyn Clark, Jackie Walker, Virginia Blunk, Florence Gebhardt, Betty Jane Ross, Alice Stewart.

The Croquis Club, sponsored by Miss Jane Messick, is a club newly organized this year for the enjoyment of those interested in art. During the year they drew from the model, visited the John Herron Art Institute, and in the spring they sketched outside. Membership is obtained by bringing examples of art work, drawings, or pieces of handicraft, to be judged by a committee composed of the art department faculty. The officers for the year were Carolyn Bock, president; Doris Becker, vice-president; Jane Wright, secretary; George Hinesley, treasurer; and Virginia Ford, entertainment chairman.

PRINTERS' PI STAFF

The Printers' Pi Staff consists of the members of the various printing classes under Harold F. Irby. Printers' Pi is the paper published by the members of the classes, who each write an article about an incident in which he is involved. The material is edited and set up in type by the members of the staff. The annual publication of the Printers' Yearbook is another activity of the Printers' Pi Staff. This book consists of a cartoon, picture, and a few lines about each of the graduating members of the printing class.

DEAN OF GIRLS' ASSISTANTS

Each semester Mrs. Della Thompson, Dean of Shortridge girls, chooses assistants to help her. These assistants assume much responsibility. They take charge of the Lost and Found department, show new pupils to their classrooms, receive callers for Mrs. Thompson and Shortridge, and perform various other duties. The assistants are usually those who volunteer because they are interested in the work and feel that this experience gives them poise and wider social contacts. They receive no pay or school credit for their work.

IN THE FIELD OF MUSIC

Instrumental

The Shortridge Band of ninety-six pieces, under the direction of Robert J. Shultz, played at all the home games throughout the entire basketball and football seasons. Outside of school the band played for the Scottish Rite convocation and the Y. M. C. A. Big Meeting at the Keith Theater. At school the band played for one special auditorium and several pep sessions, and participated in the Spring Music Festival. One of the things of permanent nature contributed by the band was the new system of band risers for the auditorium stage. These were constructed by the band boys and financed by the P. T. A. and the Junior Class, and have already proved their worth on numerous occasions. Twenty-four Seniors received band service sweaters this year.

The Brass Ensemble, a new organization at Shortridge, played for numerous dinner clubs and churches throughout the city. It played in auditorium with Bill Shirley as featured vocalist accompanied by Joe Lewis.

The Shortridge Orchestra, directed by Will F. Wise, enjoyed a successful season. The orchestra played for several auditoriums, the Big Meeting of the Y. M. C. A., the convention of Mid-West Physical Educators, the Spring Music Festival, and a national radio broadcast. This year, for the first time, the Regional Music Festival of Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana met in Indianapolis. The Shortridge Orchestra competed in this festival, which has taken the place of the national contest held in previous years.

Vocal

The Choir, Boys' Glee Club, and Voice Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Laura C. Moag, has participated in many programs this year, including school and city P. T. A., D. A. R., auditoriums, radio broadcasts, and other programs. At Christmas the entire group, in conjunction with the orchestra, presented the Hallelujah Chorus. Christine Elizabeth Houseman was the organist and accompanist at most of these functions.

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Geraldine Trotter, is composed of forty members who were selected by audition. Among the many programs in which the Glee Club has appeared this year were school auditoriums, the Shortridge and city P. T. A., the A. A. U. W. Christmas program, the Kiwanis, Lions, Caravan, and other business clubs, as well as the regular Spring Music Festival in Shortridge.

BATON CLUB

The Shortridge Baton Club has had a very successful year. Besides auditorium programs, the club presented "The Baton Hour of Melody" in Caleb Mills Hall for the Family Frolic. There were two performances during the evening given to capacity audiences. Among their outside activities, the club attended a concert given by Bomar Cramer, famous Indianapolis pianist, at the English Theatre. Under the sponsorship of the Baton, Mr. Cramer was later heard in a recital given in Caleb Mills Hall. Prior to the Family Frolic, the annual gift to Shortridge was made in the form of a remote-controlled color wheel to be used on one of the spot lights in Caleb Mills Hall. Prominent guest speakers and artists, as well as members of the club have furnished programs throughout the year. The officers were Bill Shirley, president; Marian Wilcox, vice-president; Betty Easterday, secretary; and Dick Carson, treasurer. Miss Geraldine Trotter is the sponsor.

The Social Committee, sponsored by Miss Mary Pratt of the English department, elected the following officers for 1938-39: Charles Smith, president; Mary Lou Westfall, vice-president; Susanne Clark, secretary; and Ann Bishop, treasurer. The first dance of the year, held October 8, was the Bonnie Ball, in honor of J. C. McLauchlan, well-liked exchange teacher from Scotland. The Social Committee had charge of the dance at the annual Family Frolic. The Feather Merchant Fling was held February 3. Some of the members of the faculty presented a floor show in typical mountain costume. The annual Bluebelle and Uglyman dance was held April 21. The most popular boy and girl in school were chosen by vote from lists proposed by the Committee. The Social Committee now has about fifty members.

The chairmen for the various dances this year were: Bonnie Ball, Marian Wilcox; Round-Up; Sam Mantel Jr.; Feather Merchants Fling, Mary Glossbrenner and John Osborne; Bluebelle-Uglyman Dance, Barbara Fuller and Jim Sublette.

1938 FAMILY FROLIC

On December 2, 1938, Shortridge witnessed the largest and most successful school and family gathering yet produced. This year's frolic was sponsored by the Parent Teachers' Association under the direction of Mrs. Hugh M. Knippenburg, chairman of the P. T. A. ways and means committee, and Walter C. Geisler, of the faculty.

The Family Frolic, formerly known as the Round-Up, provides entertainment for the whole family. A dance, stage shows, exhibits of the many Shortridge clubs, concession stands, and prize booths furnish entertainment.

The musical show, under the auspices of the Baton Club, was assisted by members of the P. T. A. The program, which was given in Caleb Mills Hall, featured student talent made up of Martin Marks, piano soloist; the Shortridge Trio, composed of Ruth Schlaegel, Betty Ann White, and Lucy Peterson; William Shirley, vocalist; and Dick Carson, xylophonist.

Perhaps the newest and most colorful spectacle was the style show held in the school library. For this event, L. S. Ayres and Company loaned several hundred dollars worth of clothing which was displayed by fifteen senior girls. The models were as follows: Mary Jane Hess, Betty Jean Miller, Dorothy Beem, Mary Ann Murphy, Nancy Trimble, Mary Janet Mummert, Judy Robinet, Irma Berry, Sue Ann Knippenberg, Betty Richards, Susanne Queisser, Bernice West, Martha Jo Runyan, Katy Lou Matlock, and Fhyllis Johnson.

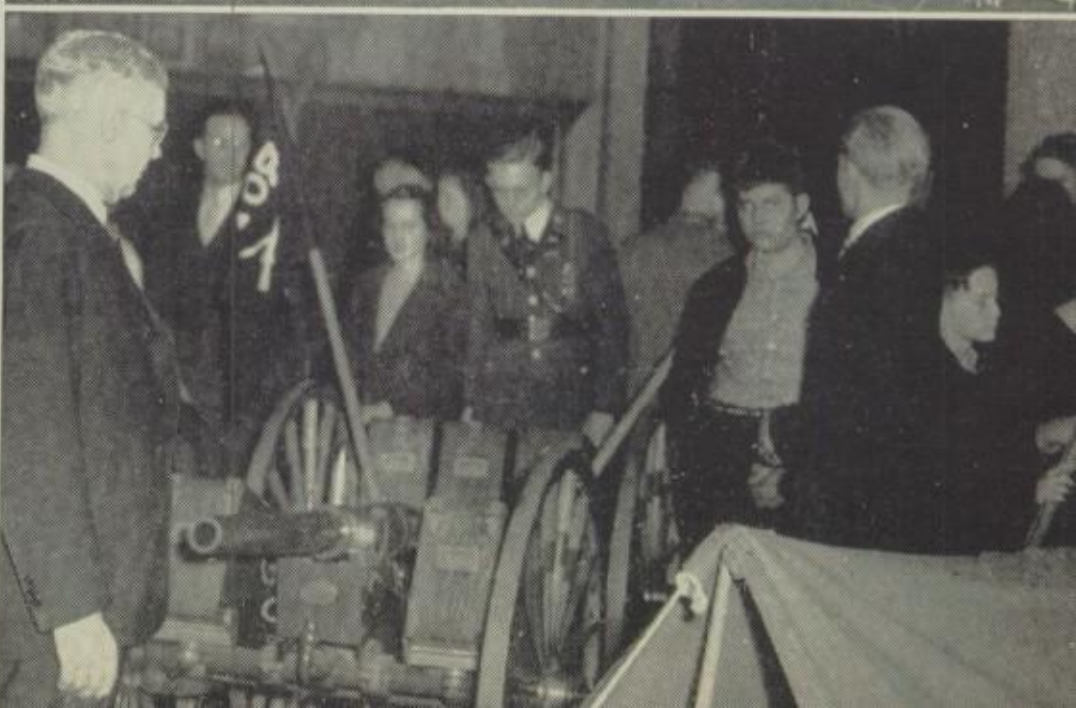

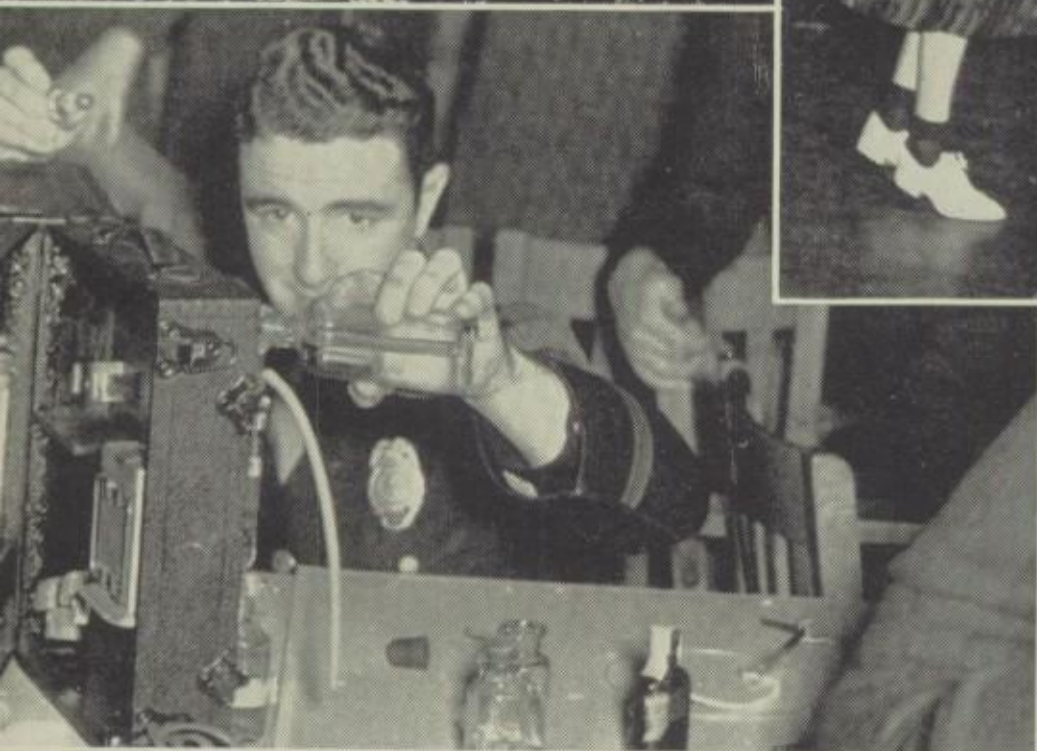

Another favorite of the Frolic was the dance in the gym, which featured Bud Stone's band playing from 9 P. M. until 12 P. M.

"A Dash of Scotch" was the unique booth sponsored by the exchange teacher from Scotland, James C. McLauchlan, and Mrs. Hattie L. Winslow. The booth featured music by Mr. McLauchlan on the bag pipes, and the Scottish dance, Highland Fling, by two Shortridge girls, Jane Wright and Jean Bosson.

Other attractions were the R. O. T. C. exhibit of modern army equipment from the Adjutant General's department; The German Pretzelbude; a shooting gallery; science exhibits, some of which were on tour to the World's Fair; the Question Bee; Hobby Show; National Guard wireless telegraph demonstration; fortune telling; food booths; and numerous window displays made up by the various clubs of Shortridge.

This annual event is the greatest source of funds for the Student Aid organization.

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Patricia Failing, Peggy Trusler, Joan Buschmann,
Victor Jose, Kenneth Smock.

Kathryn Thompson and Walter Geisler. The co-chairmen were Lucy Peterson and Betty Staudt. This was a variety act composed of singing, dancing and a swing band which was very entertaining.

The act which took second place, "Campus Capers," had Elinor Hess as its act chairman. The co-chairmen were Georgia Douglass and Pat Denham and Mr. Gambold sponsored it. This was also a musical act which featured three songs composed by the co-chairmen.

"Roll Along," a roller skating act, which bordered on the professional, won third place. The chairman for this act was Mary Lucas. Miss Thelma Simmons was the sponsor.

"A Lesson in Rhythm" took place in a make believe school room featuring several snappy song and dance routines. Nick Smyrnis and Carol Hawkins were the act chairmen. The sponsors were Mr. Campbell and Miss Richwine.

"The Shooting of Dangerous Dan McGrew" was a hilarious comedy act. The act chairmen were Ben Hitz and Kurt Vonnegut. Miss Charlotte Bruce sponsored it.

A miniature circus, "A Clown's Dream" consisting of a ringmistress, clowns, and dancers made up an act. Teddy Beal was chairman and Miss Mariesue Eisenhut, sponsor.

"The Cut-ups" was a comedy act which had its setting in a hospital with its own ideas of surgery. O. D. Thundere was the sponsor. Alice Robinson and Betty Jeanne Ruth were co-chairmen.

The five intermission acts were well done and well presented. Shirley Pierce, Dick Pierce, and Dick Carson received special recognition.

Joan Buschmann and Pat Failing were co-chairmen of the eighty ushers.

THE CLASS OF 1940

The Class of 1940 began on November 7, 1938 with the election of the following class officers: Kenneth Smock, president; Joan Buschmann, vice-president; Pat Failing, secretary; Victor Jose, treasurer; and Peggy Trusler, vaudeville chairman. The Student Council representatives were Ann P. Bishop, Ann Shaw, David Savidge, and Tom Purky. Alternates selected were Susan Alvis and Ben Hitz.

The Junior Vaudeville of 1939 proved a great success. It was presented before packed houses both evenings. Much credit for the triumph of the show was due to the efforts of the Vaudeville chairman, Peggy Trusler, and the hearty co-operation of the class sponsors, Mrs. Nell Thomas and Mr. Enoch Burton, the individual act chairmen, and all those taking part in the performance.

The winning act, "Rhythm and Rhyme of '39," was sponsored by Miss
